

Anna Tsoukala

Anna Tsoukala was born in Pireus, Greece. She is greatly renowned in Greece for her work as an actress and a soprano.

She holds a diploma in acting from the drama school of Mary Vogiatzi-Traga and a diploma in acting from the famous Art Theater of Karolos Koun. She has studied at the Academy "Theatre DE Luseu" in Barcelona with Maria Soler, and has received a Diploma with honors for Voice Performance from the Guildhall school of music and Drama in London, as well as four awards.

She is a recipient of the honorary award of "Doctor without Borders." Anna has played many concerts throughout Europe and the world and before arriving to New York City, she sang on a cruise ship that voyaged as far as Antarctica.

In Greece, she has played on television, theater, cinema, and has performed in numerous concert halls throughout the country. She is currently pursuing her acting and singing career in New York City.