

Sophia Maria Takvorian

Sophia Maria Takvorian is a native New Yorker and a rising senior at New York University's Gallatin School of Individualized Study, concentrating in art history, social and cultural analysis, and art therapy.

She is involved in Sprout Up at NYU as a volunteer teacher and curriculum writer, and is a docent at a local museum in Brooklyn.

In her free time she enjoys writing, looking at her friends' art, and gardening. She hopes to one day work in a museum as a curator and educator and continue her writing.