

Evagelia, Katerina, and Nikoletta Toffoloni

Evagelia, Katerina, and Nikoletta Toffoloni are juniors at Yale University.

Evagelia is majoring in History, concentrating in cultural history. She aspires to be involved in marketing and product development in outdoor apparel and to pursue an advanced degree.

Katerina is also majoring in History, concentrating in cultural history. She has her sights set on the business world in finance, investment banking, or real estate development prior to obtaining an advanced degree.

Nikoletta is majoring in Molecular, Cellular and Development Biology and Art, with a focus in painting. Nikoletta plans to attend medical school and become a neonatal surgeon.

The three sisters volunteered at the Philoxenia house, where sick and disabled children primarily from Greece stay to receive help and treatment from surrounding hospitals, and established a fundraising campaign, A Party of Hope, raising over $20,000. They continued on to volunteer at an orphanage, To Χαμόγελο του Παιδιού, in Magoulades, Corfu and helped take care of the children and tutor them. They are passionate about their Greek heritage and representing and advocating for their culture in school, volunteer work, and their professional careers.
